Statehood Bill.

At 2 o'clock the statehood bill was taken up and Mr. Tillman gave notice that he would continue his remarks tomorrow. Mr. McCumber then addressed the senate on the statehood bill.

Mr. McCumber favored statehood for Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, and compared the conditions existing in those territories with those which prevailed in Dakota before North and South Dakota were admitted into the Union.

The house bill providing rebates of the duty on coal was reported favorably by the finance committee, Mr. Aldrich remarking that the committee's action was unanimous.

Denver resents the statement that there is no work there for the men who are being shipped east by the western employment agencies. A. C. Ridgeway, general manager of the Colorado-Utah Construction company, announces that he has work for all the men that he can get. He says that every man who has been sent to Denver has been able to get work on the new Moffat road if work is wanted. James Orman of the firm of Orman & Crook, who have the contract for build-

Crook, who have the contract for building about nineteen miles of the road, makes the same statement.

Employment will be given by the last named firm to about 2,000 men, and as soon as the camps are fully established 4,000 men will find steady employment on the new road. There is much criticism regarding the telegram sent dut by the chief of police of Denver, who informed an Ogden employment agency that he would prosecute the managers if they sent any more idle men to Denver. Mr. Ridgeway has characterized this action as unwarranted interference, and he adds that Chief Armstrong acted without investigation. It is charged that the unfavorable reports were started by rival employment.

reports were started by rival employment agencies, and the police of Denver were also alarmed because they feared that vagrants and other undesirable characters would be dumped into the city and give the police more work.

They took the position that the provision that sugar shall not be imported from other countries than Cuba at less than the rates of the Dingley law will have the effect of fatally injuring a number of the other treaties if it should be incorporated into the treaty, as a reduction on sugar imported into the United States is a material feature of several of the reciprocal agreements now pending in the palate without printing of the body. "Any telegraph company now organized or which may be hereafter organized under the laws of any state shall have the right to construct, maintain and operate telegraph lines over and along any of the military or post roads of the United States which have been or may hereafter be declared such by law, but such lines of telegraph shall be so constructed and maintained as not to interfere with the ordinary travel on such military roads." All railroads are declared by law to be post roads.

The decision continues:

"While the question here at issue has not had judicial interpretation by the court of last resort, the statute of July 24, 1866, as applicable to post roads, has several times been before the courts for their construction. It has been held that because of this law are company, having explusive, privine company having exclusive privi-eges under the state law cannot pro-libit the erection of the telegraph lines of another company on the post roads of the United States where such other companies have accepted the provi-sions of the act of July 24, 1866, when hose in control of such roads have
